Treetops is a self-service camp. You get dorms for the kids, small chalets for the adults, a Kitchen space where you cook over firewood, solar lights, and a solar water pump. Two local men help with some of the chores.

The first, most urgent task was to send the Isuzu and older boys out in the bush to collect firewood.

Plenty of water for your laundry chores!

A large, but empty kitchen. We brought all our pots and pans and soap.

A nice big pantry for all the food we brought.

After a day or two I noticed all the boys getting their hair twisted into little horns. "Why are you guys doing this?" I asked. They grinned at me. "We don't want to have to comb our hair every day!" Hm-m-m-m. Interesting!

So I asked Milika to do me too!
Just Imagine!
I won't have to comb my hair for the next 8 days????

Who-o-o-o-e-e-e-!!!!
What do you think?

I can't let these rascals have more freedom than me! Right?
